œ The Robertson County Judicial Center œ

The dedication of the Robertson County Judicial Center completes a project that began when the Kentucky General Assembly authorized the $3.3 million facility in 2005 and approved its funding in 2006.

"It is a privilege to celebrate with the people of Robertson County as they dedicate this outstanding new judicial center," Chief Justice of Kentucky John D. Minton Jr. said. "Since the early days of the Commonwealth, Kentucky courthouses have held a special place as the center of our communities.

"Today we carry on the tradition of providing a safe, modern facility where citizens can carry out court business and seek access to justice. I appreciate the county leaders and state legislators who joined the Judicial Branch in making this project a reality."

The judicial center consists of approximately 9,300 square feet and includes space for Circuit Court, District Court, the Office of Circuit Court Clerk and ancillary services.

The new facility enhances public flow and improves the court system's ability to provide services. It is equipped with the latest computer, video and networking technology. The design also provides the highest level of Kentucky court security through a single-point entry with magnetometers and security personnel. In addition, prisoners will be segregated from the public by separate entrances and corridors.

The Robertson County Judicial Center was designed to meet the standards required by the Administrative Office of the Courts. GRW Inc. of Lexington served as the architect, Trace Creek Construction of Vanceburg was the construction manager and Ross, Sinclair & Associates was the financial agent.

As the administrative and fiscal agent for the Kentucky Court of Justice, the AOC oversees the construction and maintenance of court facilities statewide. The AOC also supports the activities of 3,800 court system employees, including the elected justices, judges and circuit court clerks.
