œ The Taylor County Justice Center œ

The dedication of the Taylor County Justice Center completes a project that began when the Kentucky General Assembly authorized the $14.9 million project in 2005 and approved its funding in 2006.

"It is a privilege to celebrate with the people of Taylor County as they dedicate this outstanding new justice center," Chief Justice of Kentucky John D. Minton Jr. said. "Since the early days of the Commonwealth, Kentucky courthouses have held a special place as the center of our communities.

"Today we carry on the tradition of providing a safe, modern facility where citizens can carry out court business and seek access to justice. I appreciate the county leaders and state legislators who joined the Judicial Branch in making this project a reality."

The justice center consists of approximately 53,000 square feet and includes space for Circuit Court, District Court, the Office of Circuit Court Clerk and ancillary services.

The new facility enhances public flow and improves the court system's ability to provide services. It is equipped with the latest computer, video and networking technology. The design also provides the highest level of Kentucky court security through a single-point entry with magnetometers and security personnel. In addition, prisoners will be segregated from the public by separate entrances and corridors.

The Taylor County Justice Center was designed to meet the standards required by the Administrative Office of the Courts. CMW Inc. of Lexington served as the architect, Codell Construction Co. of Winchester was the construction manager and First Kentucky Securities of Frankfort was the financial agent.

As the administrative and fiscal agent for the Kentucky Court of Justice, the AOC oversees the construction and maintenance of court facilities statewide. The AOC also supports the activities of 3,800 court system employees, including the elected justices, judges and circuit court clerks.
